Lesson 3 Worksheet — Prometheus

"The Champion of Humankind"

CEFR B2 | Name: _____ Class / No.: _____

Vocabulary Reference List

Words for Production

#	Word	詞性	中文	衍生詞
1	humankind	n. [U]	人類
2	universe	n. sing.	宇宙	universal (adj. 普遍的)
3	fur	n. [U]	（動物的）毛；毛皮
4	enable	vt.	使……能夠……
5	upright	adv./adj.	直立地；直立的
6	generous	adj.	慷慨的	generosity (n. 慷慨)
7	conflict	n. [U,C]/vi.	衝突；（想法等）抵觸
8	distribution	n. [U]	分配；分布	distribute (vt. 分發；分配)
9	benefit	n. [U,C]/vt./vi.	益處；對……有益；得益於……	beneficial (adj. 有利的)
10	slaughter	vt./n. [U]	宰殺；屠殺
11	underneath	prep.	在……下
12	freeze	vi./vt.	受凍；冷凍
13	victim	n. [C]	受害者；罹難者
14	miserable	adj.	悲慘的	misery (n. 慘況)
15	hollow	adj.	中空的
16	furious	adj.	暴怒的	fury (n. 狂怒)
17	theft	n. [C,U]	偷竊；偷竊罪
18	punish	vt.	懲罰	punishment (n. 懲罰)
19	banish	vt.	放逐	banishment (n. 放逐)
20	torture	vt./n. [U,C]	折磨
21	civilization	n. [U,C]	文明

Idioms and Phrases

run out (of...) 用完 — to use up all that is available make up for 彌補 — to give or do something to make things fair; to provide something in return for a loss or disadvantage as a result 因此 — therefore; thus fall victim to 成為……的受害者；受……所害 — to suffer or become a victim as a result of something feed on 靠……為食 — to eat something as main food set the stage for 為……作好準備 — to lead the way for; to set up the right conditions for something that is to follow

Words for Recognition

Prometheus (n. 普羅米修斯) | Titan (n. 泰坦巨人) | Epimetheus (n. 艾比米修斯) | Zeus (n. 宙斯) | Olympian (adj. 奧林匹亞山的) | Mecone (n. 墨康) | offering (n. [C] 祭品) | beast (n. [C] 野獸) | stalk (n. [C] 莖) | fennel (n. [U] 茴香) | liver (n. [C] 肝臟) | gnaw (vi. 啃咬)

Dialogue — A Modern-Day Survival Story

Every bold + underlined word below is one of this lesson's 21 Words for Production. Use the surrounding context to work out each meaning.

Riley: Did you catch last night's episode of that survival show? I still can't believe what Kai went through out there.

Theo: I saw parts of it. He looked absolutely miserable by day three, shivering non-stop.

Riley: Right, and the forecast said the temperature would drop enough that he could actually freeze to death if he didn't get a fire going.

Theo: That's terrifying. Did the cold enable him to think more clearly, or did it just slow him down?

Riley: Honestly, it slowed him down at first. He could barely stand upright; he was just crawling around looking for dry wood.

Theo: I read that contestants aren't allowed to bring modern tools, so everything he built came from stuff he found in nature — like the animal fur he stripped off a carcass to line his boots.

Riley: Ugh, that means he must have had to slaughter an animal himself for food and clothing. That part wasn't shown on screen, but the producers mentioned it in an interview.

Theo: Makes sense — otherwise he'd have starved. Speaking of which, he found a hollow log by the riverbank and used it to collect rainwater.

Riley: Smart. He also dug a shelter underneath a fallen tree to block the wind.

Theo: There was a moment where another contestant, Mara, accused him of theft — she claimed he took fish from her section of the river.

Riley: Oh, that caused a huge conflict between the two camps. Mara was absolutely furious and wanted the producers to punish him for it.

Theo: Did they actually banish him from the competition?

Riley: No, it turned out to be a misunderstanding. The fish had drifted downstream on their own — Kai wasn't really the victim of a false accusation for long once the producers checked the footage.

Theo: That's a relief. I was worried the whole thing would feel like emotional torture for him, on top of everything else he'd already survived.

Riley: For sure. But once things calmed down, the group agreed on a fairer distribution of fishing spots so nobody would have that problem again.

Theo: That's actually pretty generous of them, considering how competitive the show usually gets.

Riley: Definitely a benefit for everyone, not just Kai. It's wild how something as small as fire and food access can decide who makes it and who doesn't.

Theo: It really shows how fragile civilization is — take away electricity and grocery stores, and we're basically back in Prometheus's world.

Riley: Exactly. Sometimes when I watch shows like this I think about how tiny we are in this whole universe, and how much we depend on things we usually take for granted.

Theo: Same. It makes me appreciate humankind's long history of figuring out fire and shelter, all over again.

Word Bank (order of appearance): miserable • freeze • enable • upright • fur • slaughter • hollow • underneath • theft • conflict • furious • punish • banish • victim • torture • distribution • generous • benefit • civilization • universe • humankind

Comprehension & Inference Questions

Part A — Short-Answer Comprehension & Inference

Answer each question in one to three complete sentences, based on the reading passage.

1. (Comprehension) According to the passage, why did Prometheus give humans the ability to stand upright and, later, fire — even though giving them fire caused serious conflict with Zeus?

2. (Comprehension) What trick did Prometheus use at Mecone, and how did it eventually backfire on humanity in the long run?

3. (Inference) Zeus sentenced Prometheus to be tortured forever by an eagle, rather than giving him a quicker punishment. What does this suggest about how Zeus viewed Prometheus's crime?

4. (Inference) The passage ends by calling Prometheus the “Champion of Humankind” rather than simply “a Titan who broke the rules.” What does this suggest about the passage's attitude toward breaking rules for the benefit of others?

Part B — Extended Response (about 100 words each)

Write a well-organized paragraph of approximately 100 words for each question. Support your ideas with reasons or examples.

5. In your opinion, was Prometheus a hero or a reckless troublemaker? Support your answer with evidence from the passage and your own reasoning. (about 100 words)

6. Zeus punished Prometheus severely for giving humans fire. Do you think Zeus's punishment was justified, or was it an abuse of power? Explain your view. (about 100 words)

Sentence Pattern & Translation Practice

Target Pattern 1 (Sentence Pattern): not only...but also... (a correlative pair joining two parallel words, phrases, or clauses)
Target Pattern 2 (Language in Use): By the time + S + V, S + had/will have + V-en (the action in the "by the time" clause happens after the other action, which is already completed by that point)

Part C — Sentence-Completion Drill

Complete each sentence with your own ideas — these topics are about your own life, not the reading passage. Any grammatically correct completion that fits the sentence's logic is acceptable.

Ex. (Pattern 1) Not only did the coach praise my effort, but she also gave me extra practice time.

Ex. (Pattern 2) By the time the bell rang, I had already finished my test.

1. (Pattern 1: not only...but also...) Complete the sentence with your own ideas about using social media.

Using social media every day, I have found that it not only _____, but it also _____.

2. (Pattern 1: not only...but also...) Complete the sentence with your own ideas about exam period at school.

During exam period, I not only _____, but I also _____.

3. (Pattern 2: By the time..., S + had/will have + V-en) Complete the sentence with your own future plans.

By the time I graduate from high school, I _____.

4. (Pattern 2: By the time..., S + had/will have + V-en) Complete the sentence about your experience as a fan of something (a group, a show, a game, etc.).

By the time my favorite idol group released their new album, I _____.

Part D — Chinese–English Translation (GSAT-style)

Translate the following sentences into English. Use the word(s) given in parentheses. These sentences follow common 學測 composition themes, not this lesson's own story.

1. (Pattern 1) 許多學生不僅利用手機學習英文，也透過社群媒體與外國朋友交流。(not only; communicate)

2. (Pattern 2) 等到你讀完這篇文章時，全球恐怕又已經流失了好幾公頃的森林。(by the time; lose)

Part E — Grammar & Reading Practice

Four sections modeled on authentic 學測英文 non-listening item types: E-1 uses a fresh passage to test grammar broadly; E-2, E-3, and E-4 all return to this lesson's own reading passage.

Part E-1 — 綜合測驗 (Integrated Cloze Test)

Read the passage below. For each blank, choose the answer — (A), (B), (C), or (D) — that best completes the sentence, and write the letter in the blank before each number.

Long before written history began, early humans lived much like the animals around them — vulnerable to cold nights, prowling predators, and total darkness after sunset. ___(1)___, everything began to change once early humans learned to keep a flame burning, a shift anthropologists now consider one of the true turning points in human history. ___(2)___ archaeologists have found charred bones in an African cave suggesting that people were already managing fire in a controlled way close to a million years ago, the habit did not spread widely until much later. Once it did, its effects were difficult to ___(3)___. A cooking fire broke down tough plant fibers, making meals easier to digest and ___(4)___ energy the body once spent purely on digestion. Fire also kept large predators at a distance, which meant that ___(5)___. ___(6)___, gathering around a shared flame each night gave early communities extra hours of light in which to talk, plan, and pass down stories, building social bonds that a busy day of foraging rarely allowed. Not only ___(7)___ these early fire-keepers survive harsher climates, but they also began organizing their lives around a shared evening ritual that still echoes in family dinners today. By the time later civilizations ___(8)___ fire into a tool for smelting metal and firing clay, it had already earned a place at the center of religion and community for thousands of years. When early storytellers ___(9)___ an explanation for where such a powerful gift had come from, many landed on the same answer: it must have been stolen or given by the gods. ___(10)___, fire remains one of humanity's oldest shared symbols, worshipped in temples and celebrated in torch relays long after its practical dangers were tamed.

1. _____ (A) Similarly (B) Therefore (C) However (D) For example

2. _____ (A) Although (B) Because (C) Unless (D) Now that

3. _____ (A) predict (B) measure (C) prevent (D) ignore

4. _____ (A) giving up (B) freeing up (C) making up (D) picking up

5. _____ (A) small, physically vulnerable communities could finally sleep safely in the open (B) early humans no longer needed to search for food (C) large predators eventually disappeared from the region entirely (D) communities had to relocate to new hunting grounds every season

6. _____ (A) In contrast (B) As a result (C) Despite this (D) Just as important

7. _____ (A) do (B) did (C) were (D) had

8. _____ (A) will have turned (B) have turned (C) had turned (D) turned

9. _____ (A) sought (B) avoided (C) rejected (D) abandoned

10. _____ (A) Even so (B) Instead (C) Otherwise (D) Even now

Part E-2 — 文意選填 (Vocabulary Cloze with Word Bank)

Based on this lesson's own reading passage. Choose the word from the box below that best completes each blank, and write its letter in the parentheses. Each word is used exactly once.

(A) as a result (B) conflict (C) distribution (D) enable (E) fur (F) generous (G) slaughtered (H) underneath (I) universe (J) upright

Long ago, in a vast ___(1)___ full of powerful gods, a Titan named Prometheus shaped the first human beings out of clay. His brother Epimetheus had already given every animal on earth a special quality — speed, strength, or a thick coat of ___(2)___ — but by the time he reached humans, he had nothing left to give. Prometheus wanted to ___(3)___ humans to survive despite this disadvantage, so he taught them to walk ___(4)___ like the gods themselves. Not only kind but also remarkably ___(5)___, he then gave humans fire as well, so they could stay warm and cook their food. This kindness soon caused a serious ___(6)___ between Prometheus and Zeus, the king of the Olympian gods. At a meeting in Mecone to decide the fair ___(7)___ of offerings between gods and humans, Prometheus ___(8)___ a bull and split it into two piles — one hiding the good meat, the other hiding only bones ___(9)___ a layer of shiny fat. Zeus chose the bones, and ___(10)___, humans have kept the meat for themselves and burned animal bones as an offering to the gods ever since.

1. ( ) 2. ( ) 3. ( ) 4. ( ) 5. ( ) 6. ( ) 7. ( ) 8. ( ) 9. ( ) 10. ( )

Part E-3 — 篇章結構 (Discourse / Paragraph Structure)

Based on this lesson's own reading passage. Choose the sentence — (A) through (F) — that best fits each blank below. One option will not be used.

Angry about being tricked, Zeus took fire away from humankind. ___(41)___ Unable to make tools or weapons, they had to live in caves and often fell victim to wild beasts. ___(42)___ He took a stalk of fennel and lit its hollow center with fire that he had stolen from the sun. ___(43)___

Furious about Prometheus's theft, Zeus punished the Titan by banishing him to a place far to the east. ___(44)___ ___(45)___ Through his sacrifice, Prometheus, who gave humans not only the ability to stand upright but also the gift of fire, which set the stage for human civilization, came to be known in later centuries as the “Champion of Humankind.”

(A) Though his liver kept growing back, the eagle would return every day to gnaw at it again, torturing Prometheus until the end of time.

(B) As a result, humans quickly forgot how fire had ever been made in the first place.

(C) Without it, humans began to starve and freeze.

(D) There, Prometheus was chained to a rock, and an eagle sent by Zeus fed on Prometheus's liver.

(E) Prometheus saw how miserable they were and decided to help.

(F) Then, he gave humans this stalk with the fire inside it.

41. ( ) 42. ( ) 43. ( ) 44. ( ) 45. ( )

Part E-4 — 閱讀混合題 (Mixed Reading Comprehension)

Read the two texts below, both based on this lesson, and answer the questions that follow.

Text 1 — Prometheus (“Forethought”)

True to his name, which means “forethought,” Prometheus always thought carefully before he acted. When Zeus tried to trick humans out of a fair share of sacrifices, Prometheus saw through the plan and secretly arranged for humans to keep the good meat for themselves. Even after Zeus punished humankind by taking fire away, Prometheus planned another way to help: he stole a spark from the sun itself and hid it inside a hollow stalk of fennel so people could have warmth and light again. Zeus punished this theft harshly, chaining Prometheus to a rock and sentencing him to eternal torture — but his actions permanently changed the course of human civilization.

Text 2 — Epimetheus (“Hindsight”)

Epimetheus's name means “hindsight”: he tended to act before thinking things through. When he was asked to give useful qualities to every living creature, he gave away speed, strength, and fur to the animals so generously that he ran out of gifts by the time he reached humans. Realizing his mistake only after it was too late, he ran to his brother Prometheus for help. It was this oversight that first pushed Prometheus to act — enabling humans to stand upright and eventually giving them fire — so that people would not be left permanently at a disadvantage.

47. From (A) to (E) below, which ONES are true based on Text 1 and Text 2? (More than one answer may be correct.)

(A) Prometheus's name reflects the fact that he planned ahead before acting.
(B) Epimetheus intentionally left humans with no special qualities out of jealousy.
(C) Epimetheus's mistake was a direct cause of Prometheus's later actions to help humans.
(D) Both brothers were punished equally severely by Zeus for their actions.
(E) Prometheus continued trying to help humans even after being punished once already.

48. Which word in Text 1 means “to force someone to suffer great pain for a long time, often as a punishment”?
Ans. _____

49–50. Fill in the blanks with words taken from Text 1 or Text 2 above, changing the word form if necessary. Put one word in each blank.

While Epimetheus acted without much ___(49)___, giving away every useful quality to the animals, his brother Prometheus always thought ahead. Prometheus's theft of fire eventually led to a harsh ___(50)___ from Zeus, showing just how seriously the king of the gods took the crime.

(49) _____
(50) _____