第__次練習(詞彙題－Level 5 全) __/__Name:_____

測驗一:文意選填(共 20 題，4 篇短文，每篇 5 格，選項供 6 選 5)

請從各篇文章下方的單字框中選出最適當的單字，填入文章中的空格(每字限用一次，不需變化字形;每篇選項有一個不會用到)。

題組一:The Pilgrimage

(A) pilgrim	(B) plague	(C) sermon	(D) shrine	(E) vow	(F) worship

During the worst years of the (1) _____, when entire towns were shutting their gates to strangers, one small group of believers still set out on a journey to the distant mountain (2) _____ they had dreamed of visiting since childhood. Each member of the group had made a private (3) _____ before leaving home, promising to complete the entire journey on foot no matter how dangerous the roads became. Not a single person among them considered himself an ordinary traveler; each one saw himself as a true (4) _____, willing to risk sickness and hunger for a chance to kneel before the altar they had heard so much about. Along the way, villagers who still dared to leave their houses would often gather briefly to (5) _____ together with the passing travelers before returning to their own locked doors.

1	2	3	4	5

題組二:Extra Innings

(A) spectator	(B) sprint	(C) stagger	(D) throng	(E) triple	(F) umpire

The championship game had already gone into extra innings when the home team's exhausted catcher appeared to (6) _____ slightly as he rounded third base, yet he somehow still crossed the plate in time to score the winning run. The enormous (7) _____ of fans packing the stadium erupted the moment the play was confirmed, and even the most devoted opposing-team (8) _____ had to admit it was one of the greatest finishes ever witnessed. Replay footage later confirmed that the controversial call made by the (9) _____ in the seventh inning, which many had booed loudly at the time, had actually been correct after all. It was the young catcher's third hit of the night, completing an unlikely (10) _____ that few had predicted before the game began.

6	7	8	9	10

題組三:A Hard Harvest

(A) miser	(B) peasant	(C) poultry	(D) savage	(E) shortage	(F) tenant

Long before any factories arrived, the entire valley depended on farming, and the Lin family, like nearly everyone else there, was a typical (11) _____ family, working the very same fields for generations. Every autumn, they were also obligated, as (12) _____ farmers of the local landlord, to hand over nearly half of their harvest as rent. The year the drought hit, however, an unexpected (13) _____ of grain left many households with barely enough to feed themselves, let alone their animals. Desperate, several farmers were forced to sell off their (14) _____ just to buy a few sacks of rice from a neighboring town. When word spread that a band of (15) _____ raiders was approaching from the hills, the already struggling villagers could do little but pray they would be spared.

11	12	13	14	15

題組四：Earning Trust Back

(A) passionate	(B) sober	(C) stern	(D) weary	(E) woe	(F) worthy

After years of drinking too much, David finally made the difficult decision to stay completely (16) _____, determined never to let his family down again. Those first few months were brutal; he often came home from work utterly (17) _____, his body aching from the long hours at the factory, yet he still forced himself to help his children with their homework every night. His father, a famously (18) _____ man who rarely offered praise, was slow to believe that the change was real. Still haunted by years of (19) _____ caused by his earlier mistakes, David understood why trust could not be rebuilt overnight. Only after two full years of quiet, steady effort did his father finally admit that his son had become a (20) _____ man again.

16	17	18	19	20

測驗二：單詞單選題（共 30 題）

請依句意，從 (A)(B)(C)(D) 四個選項中選出最適當的單字。

1.Despite fierce resistance from the old guard, reformers were confident that fresh ideas would eventually _____ within the organization.

(A) prevail (B) preside (C) pretend (D) prevent

2.Detectives struggled for weeks to uncover the killer's true _____, since there seemed to be no obvious connection between him and the victim.

(A) motion (B) motive (C) motto (D) momentum

3.Even as a child, she could _____ the tension between her parents long before they ever argued in front of her.

(A) conceive (B) deceive (C) perceive (D) receive

4.A neutral third party was brought in to _____ the dispute after direct talks between the two companies completely broke down.

(A) meditate (B) dictate (C) migrate (D) mediate

5.Engineers had to _____ the original blueprint slightly after discovering the building site was smaller than expected.

(A) modify (B) magnify (C) mortify (D) modernize

6.Critics called the dictator's decision to bomb the hospital a _____ act that could never be justified.

(A) momentous (B) monstrous (C) monotonous (D) ludicrous

7.The committee voted unanimously to _____ her for the award, citing her decade of volunteer work in the community.

(A) dominate (B) eliminate (C) nominate (D) terminate

8.Inspired by past civil rights leaders, the students organized an entirely _____ protest, refusing to respond even when officers pushed them back.

(A) nonexistent (B) nonprofit (C) nonstop (D) nonviolent

9.Among this year's graduates was one _____ exception: a student who had taught herself three languages without ever attending formal classes.

(A) notable (B) noticeable (C) notorious (D) notional

10.The band's manager hired a professional team to _____ the reunion tour months in advance, flooding social media with teaser videos.

(A) privatize (B) publicize (C) populate (D) publish

11.Thousands of villagers fled to the mountains, seeking _____ from the flooding that had already destroyed half the valley.

(A) refusal (B) referee (C) refuge (D) refund

12.Only a long-term _____ of the island, familiar with every hidden trail, could have led the rescue team safely through the dense jungle at night.

(A) president (B) precedent (C) resonant (D) resident

13.No matter how many times the lawyers appealed, the judge refused to _____ his original ruling.

(A) reverse (B) revise (C) reveal (D) resolve

14.Paramedics worked for nearly ten minutes before they finally managed to _____ the swimmer who had been pulled unconscious from the pool.

(A) review (B) revive (C) revile (D) relive

15.To the villagers, the ancient oak tree at the center of town was considered _____ ground, and no one was permitted to cut so much as a branch.

(A) scared (B) scarce (C) sacred (D) secured

16.History remembers him less as a flashy politician and more as a wise _____, admired by allies and rivals alike for his careful diplomacy.

(A) spokesman (B) salesman (C) clergyman (D) statesman

17.After the earthquake, engineers found several _____ cracks in the bridge's main supports and closed it to traffic immediately.

(A) structural (B) textural (C) cultural (D) natural

18.When the star striker was injured just before kickoff, the coach had no choice but to send in an inexperienced _____ instead.

(A) subordinate (B) substitute (C) subsidy (D) substance

19.The principal unexpectedly _____ all three students to his office, and none of them had any idea why.

(A) summit (B) summarize (C) summon (D) summer

20.Even the greatest emperors, surrounded by armies and wealth, were still _____ men who would one day die like everyone else.

(A) moral (B) mural (C) morsel (D) mortal

21.Doctors broke the news gently, explaining that the illness had reached a _____ stage and that treatment could no longer reverse its course.

(A) terminal (B) ternary (C) eternal (D) internal

22.For years after the accident, nightmares continued to _____ him, making it almost impossible to sleep through a single night.

(A) torrent (B) torment (C) torso (D) torque

23.International human rights groups condemned the regime for using _____ to extract false confessions from political prisoners.

(A) texture (B) tenure (C) torture (D) posture

24.At the memorial service, former students took turns paying _____ to their retired teacher, sharing stories from decades earlier.

(A) attribute (B) contribute (C) distribute (D) tribute

25.The professor's comment, though brief, served only to _____ just how unprepared most of the class really was for the final exam.

(A) underline (B) undermine (C) undertake (D) underlie

26.Even when offered a bribe twice his annual salary, the _____ officer reported the incident immediately to his supervisors.

(A) uptight (B) upright (C) upward (D) uproot

27.Stunned by the verdict, the defendant's family sat in _____ silence, unable to say a single word as he was led out of the courtroom.

(A) udder (B) otter (C) utter (D) outer

28.His constant need to check his reflection in every shop window revealed a _____ that even his closest friends found exhausting.

(A) vicinity (B) validity (C) variety (D) vanity

29.Although nothing was ever signed on paper, both sides considered the _____ agreement they made over the phone to be fully binding.

(A) verbal (B) virtual (C) vertical (D) verbose

30.Within weeks of inventing the device, the engineer filed for a _____ to prevent competitors from copying her design.

(A) patience (B) patent (C) pattern (D) potent

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10

11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20

21	22	23	24	25	26	27	28	29	30